ask meetra is an online offer by meetra UG (haftungsbeschränkt). In the case of the conclusion of the contract, called in the following provider, the contract will be concluded with meetra UG (haftungsbeschränkt)

Thomasiusstraße 11
10557 Berlin

Management Board: Dr. Christoph Senft, Jana Köhler
Registered at: Amtsgericht Charlottenburg, HRB 193617

CONCLUSION OF THE CONTRACT

In the case of an order you make a binding offer to us to conclude a contract with you. By clicking on "Confirm order" you can accept the order. A legally binding contract between the contracting parties is concluded by the customer placing an order for the provision of services. An order may be made in writing, by post, e-mail, by telephone and by clicking "Confirm order" in the online shop (<https://meetra.simplybook.it/>).

LIABILITY

All our documents and individual advice are given to the best of our knowledge and conscience as well as utmost care. However, no liability can be assumed for the application documents created on behalf of the customer or advice given by the provider. The customer is responsible for all content and accuracy. In addition, a successful placement or application process (i.e. with companies, universities, scholarship programmes) cannot be guaranteed.

COST AND PAYMENT

There are no hidden costs and no charges for anything we cannot deliver. Some queries are complex and require extensive research. If this is the case, the customer will be informed about the estimated time needed and the charges for this additional service. The customer can then decide to accept the additional offer. No action will be taken without the approval of the customer. This additional order may be made in writing, by post, e-mail, by telephone and by clicking "Confirm order" in the online shop (<https://meetra.simplybook.it/>).

We are located in Germany. This means that the pricing of our services is based on German standards and that all rates are shown and charged in Euros. All rates include 19 % German VAT. Please note that your local bank may charge you fees for international transfers.

Payment can be done online via credit card without registration. Please note that all services have to be fully paid in advance. Refunds are possible if you cancel up to 24 hours before the booked service. Inform us as early as possible if you have to reschedule or cancel. You can either send us an email to info@meetra.de or click on the link provided in the confirmation email you received upon booking (check your spam folder!). Please notify us latest 24 hours before our meeting. If you cancel less than 24 hours before or do not show up, there will be no refund or rescheduling of the booked service.

CANCELLATION

Inform us as early as possible if you cannot make it for the session or would like to cancel. If customer reschedules or cancels latest 24 hours before the scheduled meeting or appointment, the customer will receive a full refund of the booking fee. To do so, the customer can either send us email to info@meetra.de or click on the link provided in the confirmation email received upon booking. If the customer cancels the booking later than 24 hours in advance, the full price will be charged and no refund will be given. The same is the case if the customer misses out on the scheduled appointment.

PRIVACY POLICY

meetra follows the rules of the European General Data Protection Regulation. Find all the information on how we collect or use your personal data in our privacy policy below.

Note: Our terms and conditions for organizations or other clients booking headhunting are available in the German version (see link on our website) since this offer is aimed primarily at companies based in Germany. If you require an English version of our terms and conditions for headhunting services, please contact us via email at info@meetra.de.

It is important to point out that we may amend this Privacy Policy from time to time. Please just visit this page if you want to stay up to date, as we will post any changes here.

If you are dissatisfied with any aspect of our Privacy Policy, you may have legal rights and, where relevant, we have described these as well.

SHORT FORM "AT A GLANCE" SECTION

What kind of personal data do we collect?

CANDIDATE DATA: In order to provide the best possible employment opportunities that are tailored to you, we need to process certain information about you. We only ask for details that will genuinely help us to help you, such as your name, age, contact details, education details, employment history, immigration status, language skills, additional qualifications, financial coverage in the case of moving abroad (and of course you may choose to share other relevant information with us).

If you would like a more detailed description of the personal data that we collect about you, please click here. To the extent that you access our website we will also collect certain data from you. If you would like more information about this, please click here.

CLIENT DATA: If you are a meetra customer, we need to collect and use information about you, or individuals at your organisation in the course of providing you with services. The more information we have, the better we can tailor our performance for your specific needs.

We distinguish between two kinds of services when collecting client data:

Consulting and recruitment services for Organisations (i.e. Companies, Universities, Associations): This refers to i.e. consulting and recruitment services such as: National and international recruitment incl. candidate search, international branding strategies and channels, international organizational, personnel and team development, intercultural training or organizational support for international assignments. These services are tailor-made for the individual needs of the client.

Counselling and training services (mainly for Individuals): This refers to all our counselling and training services i.e. for career guidance, application checks or interview trainings you can book with us online through our website www.askmeetra.de.

If you would like a more detailed description of the personal data that we collect about you, please click here. To the extent that you access our website we will also collect certain data from you. If you would like more information about this, please click here.

COOPERATION PARTNER AND SUPPLIER DATA: We need a small amount of information from our Suppliers to ensure that things run smoothly. We need contact details of relevant individuals at your organisation so that we can communicate with you. We also need other information such as your bank details so that we can pay for the services you provide (if this is part of the contractual arrangements between us).

If you would like a more detailed description of the personal data that we collect about you, please click here. To the extent that you access our website we will also collect certain data from you. If you would like more information about this, please click here.

WEBSITE USERS: We collect a limited amount of data from our Website Users which we use to help us to improve your experience when using our website and to help us manage the services we provide. This includes information such as how you use our website, the frequency with which you access our website, and the times that our website is most popular.

If you would like to find out more information about what data we collect about you when you visit our website, please click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

How do we collect your personal data?

CANDIDATE DATA: There are two main ways in which we collect your personal data:

Directly from you; and

From third parties.

If you want to know more about how we collect your personal data, please click here. To the extent that you access our website, we may also collect certain data automatically or through you providing it to us. For more information please click here.

CLIENT DATA: There are two main ways in which we collect your personal data:

Directly from you; and

From third parties (e.g. our Candidates) and other limited sources (e.g. online and offline media).

If you want to know more about how we collect your personal data, please click here. To the extent that you access our website, we may also collect certain data automatically or through you providing it to us. For more information please click here.

COOPERATION PARTNER AND SUPPLIER DATA: We collect your personal data during the course of our work with you.

If you want to know more about how we collect your personal data, please click here. To the extent that you access our website, we may also collect certain data automatically or through you providing it to us. For more information please click here.

WEBSITE USERS: We collect your data automatically via cookies when you visit our website, in line with cookie settings in your browser. If you would like to find out more about cookies, including how we use them and what choices are available to you, please click here. We will also collect data from you when you contact us via the website, for example by using the contact form.

If you want to know more about how we collect your personal data, please click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

How do we use your personal data?

CANDIDATE DATA: The main reason for using your personal details is to help you find employment or other work roles that might be suitable for you. The more information we have about you, your skillset and your ambitions, the more bespoke we can make our service. Where appropriate and in accordance with local laws and requirements, we may also use your personal data for marketing aspects. Where appropriate, we will seek your consent to undertake some of these activities.

For more details on how we use your personal data, please click here.

CLIENT DATA: The main reason for using information about Clients is to ensure that the contractual arrangements between us can properly be implemented so that the relationship can run smoothly. This may involve consulting and recruitment services such as: National and international recruitment incl. candidate search, international branding strategies and channels, international organizational, personnel and team development, intercultural training or organizational support for international assignments. The more information we have, the more bespoke we can make our service.

For more details on how we use your personal data, please click here.

COOPERATION PARTNERS AND SUPPLIER DATA: The main reasons for using your personal data are to ensure that the contractual arrangements between us can properly be implemented so that the relationship can run smoothly, and to comply with legal requirements.

For more details on how we use your personal data, please click here.

WEBSITE USERS: We use your data to help us to improve your experience of using our website, for example by analysing the links you clicked most to help us to present information to you that we think you'll be interested in. If you are also a Candidate or Client of Meetra, we may use data from your use of our websites to enhance other aspects of our communications with, or service to, you.

For more details on how we use your personal data, please click here. If you would like to find out more about cookies, including how we use them and what choices are available to you, please click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

Who do we share your personal data with?

CANDIDATE DATA: We may share your personal data with various parties, in various ways and for various reasons. Primarily we will share your information with prospective employers to increase your chances of securing the job you want. Unless you specify otherwise, we may also share your information with any of our associated third parties such as our service providers where we feel this will help us to provide you with the best possible service.

If you would like to see a list of who we may share your personal data with, please click here.

CLIENT DATA: We only share information on our customers when necessary to ensure that the contractual arrangements between us can be properly implemented to ensure a smooth business relationship. This refers to consulting and recruitment services such as: National and international recruitment incl. candidate search, international branding strategies and channels, international organizational, personnel and team development, intercultural training or organizational support for international assignments.. Unless you specify otherwise, we may share your information with any of our associated third parties such as our service providers to help us meet these aims.

If you would like to see a list of who we may share your personal data with, please click here.

COOPERATION PARTNER AND SUPPLIER DATA: Unless you specify otherwise, we may share your information with any of our associated third parties such as our service providers and organizations to whom we provide services.

If you would like to see a list of who we may share your personal data with, please click here.

WEBSITE USERS: Unless you specify otherwise, we may share your information with providers of web analytics services, marketing automation platforms and social media services to make sure any advertising you receive is targeted to you.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

How do we safeguard your personal data?

We care about protecting your information. That's why we put in place appropriate measures that are designed to prevent unauthorised access to, and misuse of, your personal data.

For more information on the procedures we put in place, please click here.

How long do we keep your personal data for?

If we have not had meaningful contact with you (or, where appropriate, the company you are working for or with) for a period of two years, we will Delete your personal data from our systems unless we believe in good faith that the law or other regulation requires us to preserve it (for example, because of our obligations to tax authorities or in connection with any anticipated litigation).

For more information on our policy for the retention of personal data, please click here

How can you access, amend or take back the personal data that you have given to us?

Even if we already hold your personal data, you still have various rights in relation to it. To get in touch about these, please contact us. We will seek to deal with your request without undue delay, and in any event in accordance with the requirements of any applicable laws. Please note that we may keep a record of your communications to help us resolve any issues which you raise.

Right to object: If we are using your data because we deem it necessary for our legitimate interests to do so, and you do not agree, you have the right to object. We will respond to your request within 30 days (although we may be allowed to extend this period in certain cases). Generally, we will only disagree with you if certain limited conditions apply.

Right to withdraw consent: Where we have obtained your consent to process your personal data for certain activities (for example, for profiling your suitability for certain roles), or consent to market to you, you may withdraw your consent at any time.

Data Subject Access Requests (DSAR): You have the right to ask us to confirm what information we hold about you at any time, and you may ask us to modify, update or Delete such information.

At this point we may comply with your request or, additionally do one of the following:

we may ask you to verify your identity, or ask for more information about your request; and where we are legally permitted to do so, we may decline your request, but we will explain why if we do so.

Right to erasure: In certain situations (for example, where we have processed your data unlawfully), you have the right to request us to "erase" your personal data. We will respond to your request within 30 days (although we may be allowed to extend this period in certain cases) and will only disagree with you if certain limited conditions apply. If we do agree to your request, we will Delete your data but will generally assume that you would prefer us to keep a note of your name on our register of individuals who would prefer not to be contacted. That way, we will minimise the chances of you being contacted in the future where your data are collected in unconnected circumstances. If you would prefer us not to do this, you are free to say so.

Where your data are not being processed in an automated way, unless your data are being processed unlawfully, we will not be required to erase your data if erasure would be impossible or would involve a disproportionate effort due to the specific method of storage, provided that we think your interest in erasure is minimal.

Where your data are being processed in an automated way, we will also have the right to refuse to erase your data if we have reason to believe that such erasure will adversely affect your legitimate interests, or if such erasure would cause us to breach any legal obligation to retain your data for a specific period. Instead, in these circumstances, processing of your data will be restricted in the particular ways envisaged by the GDPR.

Right of data portability: If you wish, you have the right to transfer your data from us to another data controller. We will help with this – either by directly transferring your data for you, or by providing you with a copy in a commonly used machine-readable format.

Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority: You also have the right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority, details of which can be found here.

If your interests or requirements change, you can unsubscribe from part or all of our marketing content (for example job role emails or meetra newsletters) by clicking the unsubscribe link in the newsletter, or by sending us an e-mail with an update of your preference.

If you would like to know more about your rights in respect of the personal data we hold about you, please click here.

Will your data be transferred to countries outside the European Union?

If we process data in a country outside the European Union (EU) or the European Economic Area or in the context of the use of third party services or disclosure or transmission of data to third parties, this is done only if it is required to fulfill our (pre) contractual obligations, on the basis of your consent, due to a legal obligation or based on our legitimate interests. As meetra's service is focused on international collaboration, this is often the case.

If you have further questions or want to know more details, click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website who may transfer your personal data to a country outside the European Union (EU) or the European Economic Area. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

Who is responsible for processing your personal data on the meetra website?

meetra controls the processing of personal data on its website(s).

If you've got any further questions, or want to get in touch with us, please click here.

What are cookies and how do we use them?

A "cookie" is a bite-sized piece of data that is stored on your computer's hard drive. They are used by nearly all websites and do not harm your system. We use them to track your activity to help ensure you get the smoothest possible experience when visiting our website. We can use the information from cookies to ensure we present you with options tailored to your preferences on your next visit. We can also use cookies to analyse traffic and for advertising purposes.

If you want to check or change what types of cookies you accept, this can usually be altered within your browser settings.

If you want to find out more about cookies, including how we use them and what choices are available, please click here. Furthermore, the table at Annex 3 lists the cookies we use in your jurisdiction, why we use them and what types of cookies they are.

How to reject cookies

If you don't want to receive cookies that are not strictly necessary to perform basic features of our site, you may choose to opt-out by changing your browser settings

Most web browsers will accept cookies but if you would rather we didn't collect data in this way you can choose to accept all or some, or reject cookies in your browser's privacy settings. However, rejecting all cookies means that you may not be able to take full advantage of all our website's features. Each browser is different, so check the "Help" menu of your browser to learn how to change your cookie preferences.

For more information generally on cookies, including how to disable them, please refer to www.aboutcookies.org. You will also find details on how to delete cookies from your computer.

LONG FORM DETAILED SECTIONSWhat kind of personal information do we collect?

So you're looking for a bit more insight into what data we collect about you? Here's a more detailed look at the information we may collect. The information described below is, of course, in addition to any personal data we are required by law to process in any given situation.

CANDIDATE DATA: Depending on the relevant circumstances and applicable local laws and requirements, we may collect some or all of the information listed below to enable us to offer you employment opportunities which are tailored to your circumstances and your interests. In some jurisdictions, we are restricted from processing some of the data outlined below. In such cases, we will not process the data in those jurisdictions:

Name;

Age/date of birth;

Sex/gender;

Photograph;

Marital status;

Contact details;

Education details;

Employment history;

Language skills and certificates;

Referee details;

Immigration status (whether you need a work permit);

Nationality/citizenship/place of birth;

A copy of your driving licence and/or passport/identity card;

Financial information (where we need to carry out financial background checks);

Availability (timewise, i.e. cancellation period in your current employment arrangement)

Diversity information including racial or ethnic origin, religious or other similar beliefs, and physical or mental health, including disability-related information;

Details of any criminal convictions if this is required for a role that you are interested in applying for;

Details about your current remuneration, pensions and benefits arrangements;

Information on your interests and needs regarding future employment, both collected directly and inferred, for example from jobs viewed or articles read on our website;

Extra information that you choose to tell us;

Extra information that your referees chooses to tell us about you;

Extra information that our Clients may tell us about you, or that we find from other third party sources such as job sites;

Please note that the above list of categories of personal data we may collect is not exhaustive.

CLIENT DATA: If you are a meetra customer, we need to collect and use information about you, or individuals at your organisation in the course of providing you with services. The more information we have, the better we can tailor our performance for your specific needs.

We distinguish between two kinds of services when collecting client data:

Consulting and recruitment services for Organisations (i.e. Companies, Universities, Associations): This refers to i.e. consulting and recruitment services such as: National and international recruitment incl. candidate search, international branding strategies and channels, international organizational, personnel and team development, intercultural training or organizational support for international assignments. These services are tailor-made for the individual needs of the client.

The data we collect from Clients who book these assignments is actually very limited. We generally only need to have your contact details or the details of individual contacts at your organisation (such as their names, telephone numbers, email addresses and company address) to enable us to ensure that our relationship runs smoothly. In addition, we hold information about your use of our consulting or recruitment services, requested offers and feedback on our consulting or recruitment services. We also hold information relating to your engagement or feedback on Candidate profiles and offers requested by you, which we use to ensure that our marketing communications to you are relevant and timely. We may also hold extra information that someone in your organisation has chosen to tell us or which we have created for you under a consulting or recruitment assignment. If we need any additional personal data for any reason, we will let you know.

Counselling and training services (mainly for Individuals): This refers to all our counselling and training services i.e. for career guidance, application checks or interview trainings you can book with us online through our website www.askmeetra.de.

As part of counselling and training assignments, we only collect data to ensure a smooth business relationship and to provide you with a service that is tailored to your situation and interests. In addition, we collect information about your use of our counselling and training services or offers you requested as well as feedback on our counselling and training services. We use these to ensure that you receive appropriate advertising from us at the right time and to continually improve our services. The following information is collected by us:

Name;

Sex/Gender;

Current location

Contact details;

Query (in case you have specified a question);

Date of booking;

Date of service fulfilment (the date when the counselling session or training takes place);

Extra information that you choose to tell us;

Information that we create for you as part of a research assignment or application training

In case you book career guidance or interview preparation we may collect the following additional information:

Education details;

Employment history;

Language skills;

Nationality;

Information on your interests and needs regarding future employment;

Please note that the above list of categories of personal data we may collect is not exhaustive.

COOPERATION PARTNERS AND SUPPLIER DATA: We don't collect much data about our Co-operation partners and Suppliers – we simply need to make sure that our relationship runs smoothly. We'll collect the details for our contacts within your organisation, such as names, telephone numbers and email addresses. We'll also collect bank details, so that we can pay you. We may also hold extra information that someone in your organisation has chosen to tell us.

WEBSITE USERS: We collect a limited amount of data from our Website Users which we use to help us to improve your experience when using our website and to help us manage the services we provide. This includes information such as how you use our website, the frequency with which you access our website, your browser type, the location you view our website from, the language you choose to view it in and the times that our website is most popular. If you contact us via the website, for example by using the contact form, we will collect any information that you provide to us, for example your name and contact details.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

How do we collect your personal data?

CANDIDATE DATA: We collect Candidate personal data in three primary ways:

Personal data that you, the Candidate, give to us;

Personal data that we receive from other sources; and

Personal data that we collect automatically.

Personal data you give to us meetra needs to know certain information about you in order to provide a tailored service. This will enable us to provide you with the best opportunities, and should save you time in not having to trawl through information about jobs and services that are not relevant to you.

There are numerous ways you can share your information with us. It all depends on what suits you. These may include:

Entering your details on the meetra website or via a meetra application form, as part of the registration process;

Leaving a hard copy CV at a meetra recruitment event or job fair;

Emailing your CV to a meetra consultant or being interviewed by them;

Applying for jobs through a job aggregator, which then redirects you to the meetra website;

Entering your personal details into a meetra microsite; or Entering a competition through a social media channel such as Facebook or Twitter.

Personal data we receive from other sources

We also receive personal data about Candidates from other sources. Depending on the relevant circumstances and applicable local laws and requirements, these may include personal data received in the following situations:

Your referees may disclose personal information about you;

Our Clients may share personal information about you with us;

In case you fill in our application form at one of our Cooperation partners, this Cooperation partner may share information about you with us;

We may obtain information about you from searching for potential Candidates from third party sources, such as LinkedIn and other job sites;

If you 'like' our page on Facebook or 'follow' us on Twitter or Instagram we will receive your personal information from those sites;

Personal data we collect automatically

To the extent that you access our website or read or click on an email from us, where appropriate and in accordance with any local laws and requirements, we may also collect your data automatically or through you providing it to us. For more information please click here.

CLIENT DATA We collect Client personal data in three ways:

Personal data that we receive directly from you;

Personal data that we receive from other sources; and

Personal data that we collect automatically.

Personal data that we receive directly from you

We both share the same goal – to make sure that you get the best service possible. We will receive data directly from you in two ways:

Where you contact us proactively, usually by phone, email, Facebook, LinkedIn or through our website; and/or

Where we contact you, either by phone or email, or through our consultants' business development activities more generally.

Personal data we receive from other sources

Where appropriate and in accordance with any local laws and requirements, we may seek more information about you or your colleagues from other sources generally by way of due diligence or other market intelligence including:

From third party market research and by analysing online and offline media (which we may do ourselves, or employ other organisations to do for us);

From delegate lists at relevant events; and

From other limited sources and third parties (for example from our Candidates to the extent that they provide us with your details to act as a referee for them).

Personal data we collect via our website

To the extent that you access our website or read or click on an email from us, where appropriate and in accordance with any local laws and requirements, we may also collect your data automatically or through you providing it to us. For more information please click here.

WEBSITE USERS: When you visit our website there is certain information that we may automatically collect, whether or not you decide to use our services. This includes your IP address, the date and the times and frequency with which you access the website and the way you browse its content. We will also collect data from you when you contact us via the website, for example by using the contact form.

We collect your data automatically via cookies, in line with cookie settings in your browser. If you are also a Candidate or Client of Meetra, we may use data from your use of our websites to enhance other aspects of our communications with or service to you. If you would like to find out more about cookies, including how we use them and what choices are available to you, please click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

How do we use your personal data?

Having obtained data about you, we then use it in a number of ways.

CANDIDATE DATA: We generally use Candidate data in three ways:

Recruitment Activities; and

Marketing Activities; and

To help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims

Here are some more details about each:

Recruitment Activities

Our focus in all recruitment activities lies on bringing together the right Candidates and the right jobs. We've listed below various ways in which we may use and process your personal data for this purpose, where appropriate and in accordance with any local laws and requirements. Please note that this list is not exhaustive.

Collecting your data from you and other sources, such as LinkedIn or Xing;

Storing your details (and updating them when necessary), so that we can contact you in relation to recruitment;

Providing you with our recruitment services and to facilitate the recruitment process;

Assessing data about you against vacancies which we think may be suitable for you;

Sending your information to Clients, in order to apply for jobs or to assess your eligibility for jobs;

Enabling you to submit your CV, apply online for jobs or to subscribe to alerts about jobs we think may be of interest to you;

Allowing you to participate in specialist online training;

Carrying out our obligations arising from any contracts entered into between us;

Carrying out our obligations arising from any contracts entered into between meetra and third parties in relation to your recruitment;

Carrying out customer satisfaction surveys;

Verifying details you have provided, using third party resources (such as psychometric evaluations or skills tests), or to request information (such as references, qualifications, to the extent that this is appropriate and in accordance with local laws);

Processing your data to enable us to send you targeted, relevant marketing materials or other communications which we think are likely to be of interest to you.

We may use your personal data for the above purposes if we deem it necessary to do so for our legitimate interests. If you want to know more about what this means, please click here. If you are not happy about this, in certain circumstances you have the right to object and can find out more about how and when to do this here.

Marketing Activities

We may periodically send you information that we think you may find interesting, or to ask for your help with connecting other Candidates with jobs. In particular, we may wish to use your data for the purposes listed below, where appropriate and in accordance with any local laws and requirements. Please note that this list is not exhaustive. To:

enable us to develop and market other products and services;

send you details of reports, promotions, offers, networking and client events, and general information about the industry sectors which we think might be of interest to you;

display promotional excerpts from your details on meetra' website(s) as a success story (only where we have obtained your express consent to do so); and provide you with information about certain discounts and offers that you are eligible for by virtue of your relationship with meetra.

We need your consent for some aspects of these activities which are not covered by our legitimate interests (in particular, the collection of data via cookies, and the delivery of direct marketing to you through digital channels) and, depending on the situation, we'll ask for this via an opt-in or soft-opt-in (which we explain further below).

Soft opt-in consent is a specific type of consent which applies where you have previously engaged with us (for example by submitting a job application or CV, or registering a vacancy to be filled), and we are marketing other recruitment-related services. Under 'soft opt-in' consent, we will take your consent as given unless or until you opt out. For most people, this is beneficial as it allows us to suggest other jobs to you alongside the specific one you applied for, significantly increasing the likelihood of us finding you a new position. For other types of e-marketing, we are required to obtain your explicit consent.

The conditions that apply to our using of soft-opt-in consent are that: (i) we have obtained your email address in connection with the sale of goods or services; (ii) we use that address only for direct advertising of our own (or substantially similar) services; (iii) you have not objected to this use; and (iv) we clearly advise you, in each such communication, of your right to opt-out.

In all other e-marketing circumstances, we are required to obtain your specific "opt-in" consent and we are required to keep records of such consent having been received. Therefore, we first ask you to opt-in to receive e-marketing. This consent can either be given by email, by clicking a box or written in one of our meetra forms. We may only add you to our marketing list once we have received your specific "opt-in" consent.

If you are not happy about our approach to marketing, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time and can find out more about how to do so here.

All our marketing is based on what we think will serve our Clients and Candidates best, but we know we won't always get it right for everyone. We may use your data to show you meetra adverts and other content on other websites, for example Facebook. If you do not want us to use your data in this way, please turn off the "Advertising Cookies" option (please refer to our Cookies Policy). Even where you have turned off advertising cookies, it is still possible that you may see a meetra advert, but in this case it won't have been targeted at you personally, but rather at an anonymous audience.

You have the right to withdraw that consent at any time and can find out more about how to do so here.

To help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims

In more unusual circumstances, we may use your personal data to help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

CLIENT DATA: We use Client information in two ways:

Marketing Activities; and

To help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims

Here are some more details about each:

Marketing Activities

We've listed below the various ways in which we use your data in order to facilitate this.

Storing your details (and updating them when necessary), so that we can contact you in relation to Consulting and Recruitment services as well as Counselling and Training services;

Keeping records of our conversations and meetings, so that we can provide targeted services to you;

Undertaking customer satisfaction surveys; and Processing your data for the purpose of targeting appropriate marketing campaigns.

We may use your personal data for these purposes if we deem this to be necessary for our legitimate interests. If you would like to know more about what this means, please click here.

If you are not happy about this, in certain circumstances you have the right to object and can find out more about how and when to do this here.

Subject to any applicable local laws and requirements, we will not, as a matter of course, seek your consent when sending marketing materials to a corporate postal or email address.

If you are not happy about this, you have the right to opt out of receiving marketing materials from us and can find out more about how to do so here.

To help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims

In more unusual circumstances, we may use your personal data to help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

COOPERATION PARTNER AND SUPPLIER DATA: We realise that you're probably busy, and don't want us to be contacting you about all sorts of things. To find the right balance, we will only use your information:

To store (and update when necessary) your details on our database, so that we can contact you in relation to our agreements;

To offer services to you or to obtain support and services from you;

To perform certain legal obligations;

To help us to target appropriate marketing campaigns; and

In more unusual circumstances, to help us to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

We may use your personal data for these purposes if we deem this to be necessary for our legitimate interests. If you want to know more about what this means, please click here.

We will not, as a matter of course, seek your consent when sending marketing messages to a corporate postal or email address.

If you are not happy about this, in certain circumstances you have the right to object and can find out more about how to do so here.

WEBSITE USERS: We use your data to help us to improve your experience of using our website, for example by analysing the links you clicked most to help us to present information to you that we think you'll be interested in. If you would like to find out more about cookies, including how we use them and what choices are available to you, please click here.

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

Who do we share your personal data with?

Where appropriate and in accordance with local laws and requirements, we may share your personal data, in various ways and for various reasons, with the following categories of people:

Individuals and organisations who hold information related to your reference or application to work with us, such as current, past or prospective employers, educators and examining bodies and employment and recruitment agencies;

Tax, audit, or other authorities, when we believe in good faith that the law or other regulation requires us to share this data (for example, because of a request by a tax authority or in connection with any anticipated litigation);

Third party service providers who perform functions on our behalf (including external consultants, business associates and professional advisers such as lawyers, auditors and accountants, technical support functions and IT consultants carrying out testing and development work on our business technology systems);

Third party outsourced IT and document storage providers where we have an appropriate processing agreement (or similar protections) in place;

Marketing technology platforms and suppliers;

In the case of Candidates: potential employers and other recruitment agencies/organisations to increase your chances of finding employment;

In the case of Candidates and our Candidates' and prospective members of Staff's referees: third parties who we have retained to provide services such as reference, qualification and criminal convictions checks, to the extent that these checks are appropriate and in accordance with local laws;

If meetra merges with or is acquired by another business or company in the future, (or is in meaningful discussions about such a possibility) we may share your personal data with the (prospective) new owners of the business or company.

How do we safeguard your personal data?

We are committed to taking all reasonable and appropriate steps to protect the personal information that we hold from misuse, loss, or unauthorised access.

We take appropriate technical measures in accordance with Art. 32 GDPR, taking into account the state of the art, the implementation costs and the nature, scope, circumstances and purposes of the processing as well as the different likelihood and severity of the risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals and organisational measures to ensure a level of protection appropriate to the risk.

Measures include, in particular, ensuring the confidentiality, integrity and availability of data by controlling physical access to the data, as well as the access, input, transfer, availability and segregation.

In addition, we have established procedures that ensure the provision of data subject rights, data erasure and data vulnerability. Furthermore, we consider the protection of personal data during the process of development, or selection of hardware, software and procedures, according to the principle of data protection (Article 25 GDPR).

If you suspect any misuse or loss of or unauthorised access to your personal information please let us know immediately. Details of how to contact us can be found here.

How long do we keep your personal data for?

We will Delete your personal data from our systems if we have not had any meaningful contact with you (or, where appropriate, the company you are working for or with) for two years (or for such longer period as we believe in good faith that the law or relevant regulators require us to preserve your data). After this period, it is likely your data will no longer be relevant for the purposes for which it was collected.

When we refer to "meaningful contact", we mean, for example, communication between us (either verbal or written), or where you are actively engaging with our online services. If you are a Candidate we will consider there to be meaningful contact with you if you submit your updated CV or take part in any of our trainings. We will also consider it meaningful contact if you communicate with us about potential roles, either by verbal or written communication or click through from any of our marketing communications. Your receipt, opening or reading of an email or other digital message from us will not count as meaningful contact – this will only occur in cases where you click-through or reply directly.

How can you access, amend or take back the personal data that you have given to us?

One of the GDPR's main objectives is to protect and clarify the rights of EU citizens and individuals in the EU with regards to data privacy. This means that you retain various rights in respect of your data, even once you have given it to us. These are described in more detail below.

Details of how to contact us can be found here. We will seek to deal with your request without undue delay, and in any event within 30 days of notice (subject to any extensions to which we are lawfully entitled). Please note that we may keep a record of your communications to help us resolve any issues which you raise.

Right to object: this right enables you to object to us processing your personal data where we do so for one of the following four reasons: (i) our legitimate interests; (ii) to enable us to perform a task in the public interest or exercise official authority; (iii) to send you direct marketing materials; and (iv) for scientific, historical, research, or statistical purposes.

The "legitimate interests" and "direct marketing" categories above are the ones most likely to apply to our Website Users, Candidates, Clients, Cooperation partners and Suppliers. If your objection relates to us processing your personal data because we deem it necessary for your legitimate interests, we must act on your objection by ceasing the activity in question unless:

we can show that we have compelling legitimate grounds for processing which overrides your interests; or

we can show that we have compelling legitimate grounds for processing which overrides your interests; or

If your objection relates to direct marketing, we must act on your objection by ceasing this activity.

Right to withdraw consent: Where we have obtained your consent to process your personal data for certain activities (for example, for our marketing measures), you may withdraw this consent at any time and we will cease to carry out the particular activity that you previously consented to unless we consider that there is an alternative reason to justify our continued processing of your data for this purpose in which case we will inform you of this condition.

Data Subject Access Requests (DSAR): You may ask us to confirm what information we hold about you at any time, and request us to modify, update or Delete such information. We may ask you to verify your identity and for more information about your request. If we provide you with access to the information we hold about you, we will not charge you for this unless your request is "manifestly unfounded or excessive". If you request further copies of this information from us, we may charge you a reasonable administrative cost where legally permissible. Where we are legally permitted to do so, we may refuse your request. If we refuse your request we will always tell you the reasons for doing so.

Right to erasure: You have the right to request that we erase your personal data in certain circumstances. Normally, the information must meet one of the following criteria:

the data are no longer necessary for the purpose for which we originally collected and/or processed them;

where previously given, you have withdrawn your consent to us processing your data, and there is no other valid reason for us to continue processing;

the data has been processed unlawfully (i.e. in a manner which does not comply with the GDPR);

it is necessary for the data to be erased in order for us to comply with our legal obligations as a data controller; or if we process the data because we believe it necessary to do so for our legitimate interests, you object to the processing and we are unable to demonstrate overriding legitimate grounds for our continued processing.

Where your data are not being processed in an automated way, unless your data are being processed unlawfully, we will not be required to erase your data if erasure would be impossible or would involve a disproportionate effort due to the specific method of storage, provided that we think your interest in erasure is minimal.

Where your data are being processed in an automated way, we will also have the right to refuse to erase your data if we have reason to believe that such erasure will adversely affect your legitimate interests, or if such erasure would cause us to breach any legal obligation to retain your data for a specific period. Instead, in these circumstances, processing of your data will be restricted in the particular ways envisaged by the GDPR.

We would only be entitled to refuse to comply with your request for one of the following reasons:

to exercise the right of freedom of expression and information;

to comply with legal obligations or for the performance of a public interest task or exercise of official authority;

for public health reasons in the public interest;

for archival, research or statistical purposes; or to exercise or defend a legal claim.

When complying with a valid request for the erasure of data we will take all reasonably practicable steps to Delete the relevant data.

Right to restrict processing: You have the right to request that we restrict our processing of your personal data in certain circumstances. This means that we can only continue to store your data and will not be able to carry out any further processing activities with it until either: (i) one of the circumstances listed below is resolved; (ii) you consent; or (iii) further processing is necessary for either the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims, the protection of the rights of another individual, or reasons of important EU or Member State public interest.

The circumstances in which you are entitled to request that we restrict the processing of your personal data are:

where you dispute the accuracy of the personal data that we are processing about you. In this case, our processing of your personal data will be restricted for the period during which the accuracy of the data is verified;

where you object to our processing of your personal data for our legitimate interests. Here, you can request that the data be restricted while we verify our grounds for processing your personal data;

where our processing of your data is unlawful, but you would prefer us to restrict our processing of it rather than erasing it; and where we have no further need to process your personal data but you require the data to establish, exercise, or defend legal claims.

If we have shared your personal data with third parties, we will notify them about the restricted processing unless this is impossible or involves disproportionate effort. We will, of course, notify you before lifting any restriction on processing your personal data.

Right to rectification: You also have the right to request that we rectify any inaccurate or incomplete personal data that we hold about you. If we have shared this personal data with third parties, we will notify them about the rectification unless this is impossible or involves disproportionate effort. Where appropriate, we will also tell you which third parties we have disclosed the inaccurate or incomplete personal data to. Where we think that it is reasonable for us not to comply with your request, we will explain our reasons for this decision.

Right of data portability: If you wish, you have the right to transfer your personal data between data controllers. In effect, this means that you are able to transfer your meetra account details to another service provider. To allow you to do so, we will provide you with your data in a commonly used machine-readable format that is password-protected so that you can transfer the data to another service provider. Alternatively, we may directly transfer the data for you. This right of data portability applies to: (i) personal data that we process automatically (i.e. without any human intervention); (ii) personal data provided by you; and (iii) personal data that we process based on your consent or in order to fulfil a contract.

Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority: You also have the right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority. Details of how to contact them can be found here.

If you would like to exercise any of these rights, or withdraw your consent to the processing of your personal data (where consent is our legal basis for processing your personal data), details of how to contact us can be found here. Please note that we may keep a record of your communications to help us resolve any issues which you raise.

It is important that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal information changes during the period for which we hold your data.

Will your data be transferred to countries outside the European Union?

If we process data in a country outside the European Union (EU) or the European Economic Area or in the context of the use of third party services or disclosure or transmission of data to third parties, this is done only if it is required to fulfill our (pre) contractual obligations, on the basis of your consent, due to a legal obligation or based on our legitimate interests. As meetra's service is focused on international collaboration, this is often the case.

In order to provide you with the best service and to carry out the purposes described in this Privacy Policy, your data may be transferred:

to third parties (such as advisers, Cooperation partners or other Suppliers to the meetra business);

to overseas Clients;

to Clients within your country who may, in turn, transfer your data internationally;

to a cloud-based storage provider.

Subject to legal or contractual permissions, we process or have the data processed in a third country only in the presence of the special conditions of Art. 44 et seq. DSGVO. This means that the processing is e.g. on the basis of specific guarantees, such as the officially recognized level of data protection (eg for the US through the Privacy Shield) or compliance with officially recognized special contractual obligations (so-called "standard contractual clauses").

Furthermore, we use third-party providers for the hosting, administration and design of our website who may transfer your personal data to a country outside the European Union (EU) or the European Economic Area. These third-party providers may also collect your personal data when you visit our website. More information on the third-party providers we use can be found here.

Cookies policy

What's a cookie?

A "cookie" is a piece of information that is stored on your computer's hard drive and which records your navigation of a website so that, when you revisit that website, it can present tailored options based on the information stored about your last visit. Cookies can also be used to analyse traffic and for advertising and marketing purposes.

Cookies are used by nearly all websites and do not harm your system. If you want to check or change what types of cookies you accept, this can usually be altered within your browser settings. We also provide information about this in our Marketing preferences page on the meetra website.

How do we use cookies?

We use cookies to track your use of our website. This enables us to understand how you use the site and track any patterns that emerge individually or from larger groups. This helps us to develop and improve our website and services in response to what our visitors want and need.

The table at Annex 3 lists the cookies we use in your jurisdiction, why we use them and what types of cookies they are.

What types of cookies exist?

Session cookies: these are only stored on your computer during your web session and are automatically deleted when you close your browser – they usually store an anonymous session ID allowing you to browse a website without having to log in to each page but they do not collect any information from your computer; or Persistent cookies: a persistent cookie is stored as a file on your computer and it remains there when you close your web browser. The cookie can be read by the website that created it when you visit that website again. We use persistent cookies for Google Analytics and for personalisation (see below).

Cookies can also be categorised as follows:

Strictly necessary cookies: These cookies are essential to enable you to use the website effectively, such as when applying for a job, and therefore cannot be turned off. Without these cookies, the services available to you on our website cannot be provided. These cookies do not gather information about you that could be used for marketing or remembering where you have been on the internet.

Performance cookies: These cookies enable us to monitor and improve the performance of our website. For example, they allow us to count visits, identify traffic sources and see which parts of the site are most popular.

Functionality cookies: These cookies allow our website to remember choices you make (such as your user name, language or the region you are in) and provide enhanced features. For instance, we may be able to provide you with news or updates relevant to the services you use. These cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, font and other parts of web pages that you can customise. They may also be used to provide services you have requested such as viewing a video or commenting on a blog. The information these cookies collect is usually anonymised.

Personalisation cookies: These cookies help us to advertise details of potential job opportunities that we think may be of interest. These cookies are persistent (for as long as you are registered with us) and mean that when you log in or return to the website, you may see advertising for jobs that are similar to jobs that you have previously browsed.

The table at Annex 3 lists the cookies we use in your jurisdiction, why we use them and what types of cookies they are.

How to reject cookies

If you don't want to receive cookies that are not strictly necessary to perform basic features of our site, you may choose to opt-out by changing your browser settings

Most web browsers will accept cookies but if you would rather we didn't collect data in this way you can choose to accept all or some, or reject cookies in your browser's privacy settings. However, rejecting all cookies means that you may not be able to take full advantage of all our website's features. Each browser is different, so check the "Help" menu of your browser to learn how to change your cookie preferences.

For more information generally on cookies, including how to disable them, please refer to www.aboutcookies.org. You will also find details on how to delete cookies from your computer.

OUR LEGAL BASES FOR PROCESSING YOUR DATA

LEGITIMATE INTERESTS

Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR is the one that is relevant here – it says that we can process your data where it "is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by [us] or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights or freedoms of [you] which require protection of personal data."

We don't think that any of the following activities prejudice individuals in any way – in fact, they help us to offer you a more tailored, efficient service, so everyone's a winner! However, you do have the right to object to us processing your personal data on this basis. If you would like to know more about how to do so, please click here.

CANDIDATE DATA:

We think it's reasonable to expect that if you are looking for employment or have posted your professional CV information on a job board or professional networking site, you are happy for us to collect and otherwise use your personal data to offer or provide our recruitment services to you, share that information with prospective employers and assess your skills against our bank of vacancies. Once it's looking like you may get the job, your prospective employer may also want to double check any information you've given us or to confirm your references, qualifications and criminal record, to the extent that this is appropriate and in accordance with local laws. We need to do these things so that we can function as a profit-making business, and to help you and other Candidates get the jobs you deserve.

We want to provide you with tailored job recommendations and relevant articles to read to help you on your job hunt. We therefore think it's reasonable for us to process your data to make sure that we send you the most appropriate content.

We also think that it might help with your job search if you take part in one of our trainings or some of our more interactive services, if you have the time.

We have to make sure our business runs smoothly, so that we can carry on providing services to Candidates like you. We therefore also need to use your data for our internal administrative activities, like payroll and invoicing where relevant.

We have our own obligations under the law, which it is a legitimate interest of ours to insist on meeting! If we believe in good faith that it is necessary, we may therefore share your data in connection with crime detection, tax collection or actual or anticipated litigation.

CLIENT DATA:

To ensure that we provide you with the best service possible, we store your personal data and/or the personal data of individual contacts at your organisation as well as keeping records of our conversations, meetings, requested offers, registered jobs and placements as well as feedback on our services. From time to time, we may also ask you to undertake a customer satisfaction survey. We think this is reasonable – we deem these uses of your data to be necessary for our legitimate interests as an organisation providing various recruitment services to you.

COOPERATION PARTNERS and SUPPLIER DATA:

We use and store the personal data of individuals within your organisation in order to facilitate the receipt of services from you as one of our Cooperation partners or Suppliers. We also hold your financial details, so that we can pay you for your services. We deem all such activities to be necessary within the range of our legitimate interests as a recipient of your services.

PEOPLE WHOSE DATA WE RECEIVE FROM CANDIDATES SUCH AS REFEREES:

If you have been put down by a Candidate or a prospective member of Staff as one of their referees, we use your personal data in order to contact you for a reference. This is a part of our quality assurance procedure and so we deem this to be necessary for our legitimate interests as an organisation offering recruitment services and employing people ourselves.

CONSENT

In certain circumstances, we are required to obtain your consent to the processing of your personal data in relation to certain activities. Depending on exactly what we are doing with your information, this consent will be opt-in consent or soft opt-in consent.

Article 4(11) of the GDPR states that (opt-in) consent is "any freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the data subject's wishes by which he or she, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her." In plain language, this means that:

you have to give us your consent freely, without us putting you under any type of pressure;

you have to know what you are consenting to – so we'll make sure we give you enough information;

you should have control over which processing activities you consent to and which you don't. We provide these finer controls; and you need to take positive and affirmative action in giving us your consent – we're likely to provide a tick box for you to check so that this requirement is met in a clear and unambiguous fashion.

We will keep records of the consents that you have given in this way.

We have already mentioned that, in some cases, we will be able to rely on soft opt-in consent. We are allowed to market products or services to you which are related to the recruitment services we provide as long as you do not actively opt-out from these communications.

As we have mentioned, you have the right to withdraw your consent to these activities. You can do so at any time, and details of how to do so can be found here.

ESTABLISHING, EXERCISING OR DEFENDING LEGAL CLAIMS

Sometimes it may be necessary for us to process personal data and, where appropriate and in accordance with local laws and requirements, sensitive personal data in connection with exercising or defending legal claims. Article 9(2)(f) of the GDPR allows this where the processing "is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity".

This may arise for example where we need to take legal advice in relation to legal proceedings or are required by law to preserve or disclose certain information as part of the legal process.
